GOLD, SILVER, COPPER: EXPERIENCE THE WORLD OF THE MINERS.

Miners employed by the Fuggers and the Welsers dug the ore out of deep mountain tunnels. From the ore they obtained gold, silver, copper, lead and mercury. Metals and metal products from Augsburg companies were in high demand worldwide.

Jakob Fugger financed Spain's rise to world power. He acquired immeasurable wealth. He brought Italian art to Germany and he founded the Fuggerei, today the oldest social housing settlement in the world. His most important rival and partner was Bartholomäus V. Welser. Welser tried to colonize Venezuela in search of El Dorado, the fabled South American city of gold and riches.

EXPERIENCE THE GOLDEN AGE IN AUGSBURG WITH THE FUGGERS AND THE WELSERS.

Once upon a time ... in an age when the merchants and bankers like Fugger and Welser did business with the emperor and the pope. In a time when the wealthiest in Augsburg controlled mining companies, shipped merchandise to India and America, and influenced the politically powerful.

EXPERIENCE AUGSBURG AS THE HUB FOR TRADE AND BANKING.

The Augsburg Welsers had a trading network larger than any other company of its time. Numerous Augsburg merchants traded metals, spices and textiles. The Fuggers and the Welsers extended credit to the emperors and kings, and they financed expeditions and discoveries.

EXPERIENCE HIGH SOCIETY WITH THE PATRICIANS:

NOBLE FAMILIES, THEIR DANCES AND THEIR COATS OF ARMS.

Who were the patricians? How did the nobles dance? Who received a coat of arms – and why? What was important to the rich and powerful in the Renaissance? How did they use contacts and art to promote themselves? Take a look inside the lives of the imperial city's VIPs.
